Question 1

Examples of transformation in the ETL process onclude:

Options:

A- De-duping

B- Structure changes

C- Hierarchical changes

D- Re-ordering

E- Semantic conversions

F- None of the above

Answer:

A, B, D, E

Question 2

A hacker is a person who finds unknown operations and pathways within complex computer system. Hackers are only bad.

Options:

A- TRUE

B- FALSE

Answer:

B

Question 3

Question Type: MultipleChoice

XML provides a language for representing both structures and unstructured data and information.

Options:

A- TRUE

B- FALSE

Answer:

A

Question 4

Question Type: MultipleChoice

Control activities to manage metadata stores include:

Options:

A- Roadmap extrapolation

B- Load statistical analysis

C- Lineage

D- Missing metadata reports

E- Definitions resolutions improvement

F- Job scheduling and monitoring

Answer:

B, D, F

Question 5

Question Type: MultipleChoice

The best DW/BI architects will design a mechanism to connect back to transactional level and operational level reports in an atomic DW.

Options:

A- FALSE

B- TRUE

Answer:

B

Question 6

Business glossaries have the following objectives:

Options:

A- Improve the alignment between technology assets and the business organization

B- All of the above

C- Cultural factors that might improve the concepts and terminology

D- Maximise search capability and enable access to documented institutional knowledge

E- Enable common understanding of the core business concepts and terminology

F- Reduce the risk that data will be misused due to inconsistent understanding of the business concepts.

Answer:

A, D, E, F

Question 7

Common OLAP operations include:

Options:

A- Drill down/up

B- Roll-up

C- Slice

D- Dice

E- All of the above

F- Cut

Answer:

A, B, C, D

Question 8

Question Type: MultipleChoice

Metrics tied to Reference and Master Data quality include:

Options:

A- Strategic usage reporting

B- Amsterdam Information Model

C- Data change activity

D- Total cost of ownership

Answer:

C, D

Question 9

Question Type: MultipleChoice

A deliverable in the data architecture context diagram includes an implementation roadmap.

Options:

A- TRUE

B- FALSE

Answer:

A